BRITISH DOUBLES PAIR FAIL TO CLINCH DAVIS CUP ZONE FINAL

GOOD TEST START BY WEST INDIES

Barrow And Headley
In Stubborn Stand.

CLARK BOWLS ROACH FOR 13.

London, Yesterday.
Scoring 98 for the loss of C. A. Roach at the luncheon interval the West Indies XI, who lost the first Test by an innings and 27 runs, made a very satisfying start in the second Test match against England at Old Trafford to-day.

Clark, the Northants left-handed fast bowler, replaced the injured Rowes in the England side, while the tourists made four changes in the side that lost the first Test. The weather was sunny and the wicket in perfect condition when Roach and Barrow opened the West Indies innings to Clark and Macaulay, the English "shock" attack.

Both batmen played themselves in quietly, but at 26 Roach was completely beaten by an in-swinging from Clark after scoring 13. Joined by George Headley, the "Black Bradman" of the tourists, Barrow continued to bat doggedly and the half century was reached in almost as many minutes. Jardine gave all his bowlers a turn with the ball in an attempt to break up a dangerous looking partnership, but the pair remained together until lunch when was taken at 98 for 1. Scores:

SERIOUS SITUATION AT SINKIANG

Departure Of New Inspectors
Postponed

Shanghai, Yesterday.
The seriousness of the Sinkiang situation was admitted by General Tang Yu-jen, when, in an interview with Reuters, this morning he said that owing to a fresh outbreak of fighting at Sinkiang, the departure of the new inspectors had been indefinitely postponed.
General Tang said that the Government were intending to send the Volunteer Chief, General Li Tu to Sinkiang, where he has a strong force, hoping that General Li could settle the Sinkiang situation.
However, how far the situation will develop he is unable to predict.—Reuters Pacific Service.

MANCHUKUO TAX REDUCTIONS

Revised Customs Now
In Force.

HELPING DEVELOPMENT OF INDUSTRY.

The revised Customs duties which were approved by the State Council on Thursday last, were formally promulgated to-day, and will be effective from to-morrow.

This is the first time since the establishment of Manchukuo that the tariff has been revised, and also the first occasion on which Manchukuo currency has been stipulated as the standard payment for duties.
Over 50 duties are reduced. The main object of the reduction is to promote industrial development, to assist constructive enterprises and to lighten the burden of taxation now being borne by the masses.

"A MERE RABBLE"

Feng's Unarmed
Men.

Peking, Yesterday.
Travellers returning from Kalgan report that Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang is feverishly preparing to resist the advance of Government troops. Marshal Feng's finances are limited to $9,000 a day from the Kalgan Chamber of Commerce and three-quarters of the Charhar Provincial revenue, which is about $400,000 a month.
However, this is useless in buying arms and ammunition, as he is completely cut off from all supplies. What supplies Marshal Feng has are those left over from his fruitless revolt against Nanking in 1930.
Well-informed Chinese here express the opinion that this will be equally futile, his present army being a mere rabble of underfed and practically unarmed men.—Reuters.

FENG AVERTS CLASH WITH JAPANESE

Withdraws Troops
From Dolonor.

TOKYO WAR OFFICE ISSUE
COMMUNIQUE.

Tokyo, Yesterday.
General Feng Yu-hsiang has averted the threatened clash with the combined Japanese Manchukuo forces by beginning to withdraw his troops from Dolonor.

This is disclosed in a War Office communique stating that on July 20, General Feng's representative communicated with the Japanese Military Attaché at Peking, requesting him to use his good offices in halting the advance on Dolonor of the Japanese Manchukuo force.

In his reply, to the request, the Japanese Military Attaché reminded the representative that Dolonor occupied a key position, having an important bearing on the peace and order in Jehol, and the combined Japanese and Manchukuo forces would be compelled to take defensive measures within the terms of the Tangku Agreement if the necessity arose.—Reuters Pacific Service.

TENSE SITUATION AT KALGAN

Feng To Clash With Nanking Troops?

Peking, Earlier.
The situation in Kalgan is rapidly growing more tense, and an early clash is expected between the Nanking Government troops and General Feng Yu-hsiang's forces which are still massing at Kalgan. Meanwhile, General Feng's agents are openly negotiating with the Government forces as they continue their march, in an attempt to persuade them to throw in their lot with the "Christian General."

Kalgan is flooded with troops and recruits anxious to join the rebellion. It is believed that General Feng's movement aims at the overthrow of the Nanking regime.
Although in the present struggle, General Feng has the moral support of the Nanking critics in Canton, he has very little money and equipment and even less ammunition, but he refuses to see the cause lost before it starts.
General Feng's fighters now number more than 60,000 and hundreds are still streaming into the city, according to foreign observers, while it is also reported that he is holding 16 military planes, recently purchased from the Soviet, in readiness.

According to messages from Chahar, the Japanese forces are planning a simultaneous drive against Kuyan to break the northern warlord's power there, and a theory has been advanced that if the Nanking troops fail to defeat General Feng's troops at Kalgan, the Japanese forces might take a further invasion to this end.
Considerable interest is centred in General Sun Tien-ying, who with about 50,000 men, has given little indication of the attitude he will take in the event of hostilities.—Reuters Pacific Service.

Edmonton, Canada, Yesterday.
Wiley Post, the American flyer, reached Edmonton, his last stopping place, at 2.07 p.m. (B.S.T.) to-day after a fast flight from Fairbanks, Alaska.

Post resumed his flight at 3.40 p.m. (B.S.T.), taking off for New York on his final hop.—Reuters.

Fairbanks, Alaska, Earlier.
Racing against time, Wiley Post, the American airman, took-off from here at 4.45 a.m. (B.S.T.) to-day for Edmonton, Canada, where he plans to enter on the last stage of his round-the-world flight. He has approximately 40 hours left in which to reach New York in time to establish a new world flight record, which at present stands at 8 days, 15 hours, 51 minutes.

Undaunted by his crash at Flat airport on Thursday afternoon, due to a broken propeller; Post ordered hurried repairs and reached here after three hours' flying, at 9.22 p.m. on Friday night. Resting only as long as was absolutely necessary, he was off again before dawn.

He has about 3,400 miles to cover before reaching New York, the approximate distances being: Fairbanks-Edmonton, 1,400; Edmonton-New York, 2,000.—Reuters.

Taking off on Saturday last on an attempt to beat the round-the-world flight established in 1931 by himself and Harold Gatty, Post made his first landing on Sunday, at noon, at Berlin, having made a fast Atlantic crossing. Two hours later he was (Continued on Page 16.)

LEAGUE AID FOR CHINA

"A Threat To Japan."

STRANGE SOLICITUDE
EXPRESSED.

Shanghai, Yesterday.
The Chinese press to-day quotes a spokesman of the Japanese Legation as saying that China's enlistment of co-operation with the League of Nations in re-organising China, constitutes a "threat" to Japan which cannot be ignored.

The spokesman added, "This move, coming after Japan's withdrawal from the League, has shown that China intended to continue her anti-Japanese activities."
China, instead of seeking Japanese co-operation in China, has evidently preferred to turn farther afield, thus ignoring Japan's interest in her development he asserted.—Reuters Pacific Service.

L'S IRREGULARS DISBANDED.

Luantung Retrocession Commenced.

Peking, Yesterday.
The Luantung Retrocession Commission is ready to operate to-morrow morning, taking over the Luantung areas occupied by the Japanese.

According to the present arrangements, Miyun and northward to Peking and Tangshan and eastward to Tientsin will be taken over first. The concentration of General Li Chi-chun's irregulars, who are to be disbanded, has already begun at Tangshan, nearly 5,000 men being assembled. They will each receive $20 and will be sent to Moehang on the Tsinpu Railway for disbanding.—Reuters Pacific Service.

GERMANY AND THE VATICAN

Concordat Contains
No Surprises.

PRIESTS EXCLUDED FROM POLITICS.

Berlin, Yesterday.
The Concordat between Germany and the Vatican, signed on July 20, and released to-day, bears out the forecasts.

The most important Articles are those whereby Germany guarantees freedom of conscience for Catholicism and the Church, but forbids its priests any political activity. It exempts priests from any obligation to betray secrets revealed in the Confessional.

The present constitution of the German Church is preserved, and its title and property is guaranteed. Administrative freedom is defined in a series of Articles, one providing that Catholic officers in permanent office in Germany must be German subjects. Attendance of service and access to priests is guaranteed to all members of the Reichswehr.—Reuters.

GRAIN TRADING SUSPENDED

Chicago Closes

OTHER MID-WEST CITIES
ACT SIMILARLY.

Chicago, Yesterday.
The Directors of the United States Board of Trade are taking stern measures to limit the grain price fluctuations brought about by the semi-panic on the New York and Chicago markets. To-day's session of the Grain Exchange in Chicago has been suspended, and also trading in grain futures.
A message from Kansas City states that the Grain Exchange there is also closed to-day.

Following the action yesterday, limiting price fluctuations for wheat, maize, oats, rye, barley, corn and flaxseed, in the towns of Minneapolis and Duluth, Kansas City has approved of a similar measure.

DECISIVELY

Americans Win In Straight Sets.

AUSTIN SHOULD WIN TO-DAY

Auteuil, Yesterday.
Hughes and Perry were beaten in the doubles to-day and America are 2-1 in arrears in the Inter-Zone Final of the Davis Cup.

Against George M. Lott and John Van Ryn, American National doubles holders, the British pair were beaten 6-6, 6-4, 6-1.

To-day the remaining two singles will be decided, the programme being as follows:—
E. Vines v. F. J. Perry.
W. Allison v. H. W. Austin.
Experts are of the opinion that Austin will encounter little difficulty against Allison and thus give Britain the rubber, while Vines is favoured to beat Perry.

Final Against France
Next Week.

London, Yesterday.
The sensational wins by Bunny Austin and Fred Perry at Auteuil yesterday have almost assured Britain of success against America in the Inter-Zone Final of the Davis Cup at Auteuil.

The Challenge Round will be played on the same courts next Friday, Saturday and Sunday when France will probably fail to retain possession of the trophy for the seventh year in succession.

Though Rene Lacoste, non-playing captain, has not yet announced his team, it is thought probable that Henri Cochet and Marcel Bernard will be the singles players, and Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon, Wimbledon champions for the past two years, the doubles pair.

QUALIFYING ROUNDS FOR DAVIS CUP

Majority Vote Of One
At Meeting.

NO PACIFIC ZONE.

Paris, Yesterday.
The present system of qualifying rounds in the European Zone of the Davis Cup contest is to be maintained.
Contrary to expectations this morning's meeting of Davis Cup nations passed this resolution by a 7 to 6 vote.

There was no question regarding the alteration of the rules or the establishment of a Pacific Zone, which would embrace Japan, China, the Philippines, and India.
Last year the International Federation authorised the new scheme to begin in 1933, whereby only zone finalists of the Davis Cup matches would enter the 1934 competition. All others were to compete in a qualifying contest held in July, August, and September of this year, and then only the semi-finalists would be admitted for the 1934 competition.
This system makes it impossible for a nation which did not compete one year to challenge in succeeding years. New Zealand is an example.—Reuters.

Brightening The Nursery Sports

Farmyard Decoration Easy To Execute

CAN you think of a more delightful surprise for the kiddies than waking up one morning to find the nursery or playroom turned into a farmyard, or a land of make-believe with Micky the Pup frisking all round the walls?

The delightful thing about these nursery decorations is that you can so easily put them on yourself. They are cut out and can be used in any order and in any position, just as you and the children like. The best place for them is in a line, a few inches apart according to their size, about four feet from the ground. Even the tiny tots can see them without undue craning and without that feeling so frequent in childhood that they are too far away.

If your walls are plain, then the decorations can go straight on to them, but to get the very best effect they should be mounted on the 10½-inch with frieze in cream or grey, which is made specially for them. The average height of the farmyard decorations is six inches. They are realistically coloured and town children in particular will love the yellow haystacks and chicks, green trees, brown dovecot and cows, and the many coloured turkeys and ducks. A set of twelve pieces, including a pig, a pump, a cow, haystacks, a chicken, a tree in a tub, a dovecot, a hen, a turkey, a sheep, a duck, and a little house surrounded by trees costs five shilling, and the frieze is fourpence halfpenny a yard.

Should you be thinking of having the whole room repapered, why not use one of the washable oil-printed wallpapers which are made in delightful fast colours and which form an ideal background for these nursery decorations. The wallpapers can be had in varying qualities at three shillings, half-a-crown and one-and-eleven a piece.

Wear For Women

Shorts Vogue For the Tennis Court.

BEACH FROCK GAINS POPULARITY

MUCH more latitude is being allowed this year over tennis wear. While the one-piece white frock is still essential for tournament play, the less strenuous player can substitute for it one of coloured silk or linen, or else can wear a cardigan and skirt.

No woman has yet been daring enough to face an audience in shorts, but if she follows the example of our No. 2 man player, she must see that they are well cut; if they are not the results are lamentable.

To revert to dresses, it is difficult to think of anything better than the short or no sleeve model in fine pique, corded linen, tricolour or heavy washing silk, the pleats on the skirts attached to a point which, while it allows freedom of movement, does away with the nuisance of a skirt flapping in a wind.

Swimming And Sun Suits. Here there is a distinction with a difference, and a most important one. Swimming suits and made of a harsher yarn than Sun Suits, and the delicate colours used in the latter would be ruined by salt water.

The Swimming Suit generally has a skirt, while in many cases the Sun Suit (what there is of it) is skirtless, and much more fanciful in design.

The popularity of beach trousers is being slightly assailed by the beach frock, which can be made of jersey, silk, cotton or linen, with the necessary underwear to match. The addition of a coat to a beach frock provides the possessor with a garment that can be worn all day long.

Victorian Trend For Evening

Curls Are Popular

AT night, when in organdie or organza, be as Victorian as you like; let your curls speak for you. They may softly cover the back of the head, mounting a bit higher than has been their wont.

It is well to encourage them, for they are going to be useful under the big hats that are coming in. Broad brims are on their way, and the big Mainbocher sailor is about to have its innings!

Fashionable Summer Footwear

Grey Outdoor Favourite.

SANDAL shoes and shoes which are composed of a delicate lattice work of straps are very fashionable and will be very cool for the summer. Court shoes for street wear which have the sides completely cut away, and also part of the vamp.

A smart pair of brown suede walking shoes had the vamp and heel covered with little holes; these are also seen on the black and white, brown and white, or blue and white shoes and form the most amusing little patterns.

Grey is a favourite colour for outdoor shoes, and the shades range from a delicate off-white to the deepest gun-metal. Red is sometimes used as a trimming on grey shoes.

For cocktail time shoes are mere trifle of satin strips, but clever designing is called for here, and contrasting colours and materials are used. Grey satin is popular, and so is silver kid. Jester shoes, one side being white and the other black, are a completely new fashion. Rubber shoes for sunbathing have increased in importance, and now can be had in many colours and styles as evening shoes.

THE FIRST BASIC FOOD

We could not dispense with mineral matter in our food any more than we could dispense with the protein which is so important as body building material. Mineral matter, or ash, of food acts as body regulating substances. They also enter into the composition of the cells and are the chief constituents of certain parts of the body such as bones, teeth, etc.

It is not possible to have a strong body without a strong firm skeleton any more than it would be possible to build a good house without a satisfactory frame work. Chief of all the mineral materials for this purpose is Calcium of Lime and the ordinary mixed diet is very often deficient in this substance. Snowflake Milk is richest of all common foods in lime and this factor alone would make it one of the most necessary foods in a child's diet, as well as the diet needed for adults in this enervating climate. When the body is growing, the bones are being built longer, and thicker and stronger and the amount of lime required is in proportion greater than when the body has attained full growth. Fruit and vegetables, particularly green vegetables, also contain lime, but the chief source is a pure brand like Snowflake full cream evaporated milk.

Lime is essential for good strong bones and good hard teeth.

Phosphorus is also present in Snowflake Milk. This mineral enters into all the cells of the body, and is another substance in which a mixed diet is often deficient.

The amount of Snowflake Milk which will supply lime in necessary quantities will also supply sufficient phosphorus for body needs.

The amount of Iron in Snowflake Milk is readily absorbed, and thoroughly utilized. The lime which is present in Snowflake milk is believed to increase the body's ability to use iron.

An eminent medical scientist declared that by far the most practical means of insuring abundance of calcium in the diet is to use Snowflake Milk freely as a food.

Two Manila Residents Remanded.

The British Consulate in Manila has not yet answered the letter from the local authorities regarding the visas on the passports of E. P. Shitsky and V. R. Borovsky, Detective Sergeant Mottram stated at the Central Police Court yesterday morning.

Mr. Wynne-Jones remanded the case to Tuesday morning July 25.

SPANISH "TALKIES" UNSUCCESSFUL

Language Differences
Cause Difficulty.

Madrid.

"Talkies" in Spanish are not satisfactory yet.

The chief difficulty arises from the difference in the language as spoken by the Latin American Republics and the Castilian spoken by Spaniards.

A Madrillan, proud of his Castilian accent, will not sit complacently through a film made in Mexico and Argentina, while in most Latin American Republics, "Talkies" made by Castilian actors are equally repulsive.

There are more than 150,000,000 Spanish speaking people in the world, and probably 30,000,000 of them attend cinemas, but "Talkies" in Spanish have not yet been successfully produced.

In the Spanish speaking countries, there are only 3,000 cinemas with sound equipment—and 900 of these are in Spain.—Reuter.

BOWLING GREEN'S DOUBLE BOWLS DEFEAT IN DAY OF SURPRISES

K.C.C. FINALS GRAY WINS JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP

HAMBLY BEATEN IN STRAIGHT SETS.

Miss M. Griffiths Wins
Ladies' Title.

GAUBERT BEATS CAPELL

Three Finals were decided in the Kowloon Cricket Club 1933 Lawn Tennis Tournaments yesterday when S. A. Gray, Miss M. Griffiths and E. V. Gaubert won titles.

The following were the results:
Junior Championship—Final
S. A. Gray beat R. B. Hambly 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

Ladies' Championship—Final
Miss M. Griffiths beat Miss S.
Danzel 6-0, 6-3.

Handicap Singles "B"—Final
E. V. Gaubert (Ger.) beat R. S.
Capell (-15) 6-4, 6-4.

Gray, who played his third tournament match in as many days, completely outplayed Hambly to win convincingly in straight sets. Showing a steadiness which has not featured his play in other matches this season his all-court game was much superior to that of Hambly, though it must be said in fairness to the latter that he was by no means up to the form he displayed when beating W. C. Hung in the Semi-Final Round.

This was Gray's first tournament win in the Colony. He is the second junior champion at the K.C.C., P. O. Dunne winning the title last year from G. A. White.

Miss Griffiths caused little surprise when she beat Miss Sybil Danziel. She is the steadiest lady player at the K.C.C., and will probably hold her first title for several years. Yesterday she won the first eight games and was only extended in the latter stages of the second set. The pair will meet in the Final of the Handicap and the new champion, in spite of her handicap, is expected to record another win.

Gaubert caused a surprise when he beat Capell, but it was more the intense heat that caused Capell's downfall than his opponent, who was, however, very steady.

Unplayed Matches.
Five other Finals have yet to be decided and the following is a list of the unplayed games:

CHAMPIONSHIP
Semi-Final
E. C. Fincher v A. E. P. Guest.

Final
W. C. Hung v E. C. Fincher or
A. E. P. Guest.

HANDICAP "A"
Final
A. E. P. Guest (-30) v R. B. Hambly (-1-3-6).

LADIES' HANDICAP
Final
Miss M. Griffiths (-3-6) v Miss S. Danziel (-15).

HANDICAP DOUBLES.
Semi-Final
D. D. McKay and N. A. E. Mackay (-2-6) v R. B. Hambly and A. E. Collins (-3-6).

Final
S. A. Gray and C. A. Wright (-15-3) v G. A. White and R. S. Capell (Ger.).

MIXED DOUBLES HANDICAP
Semi-Final
E. C. Fincher and Mrs. Goodwin (-15-3) v G. C. Burnett and Miss O. Danziel (-15).

Final
G. I. Stapleton and Miss M. Griffiths (-1-6) v A. E. Collins and Mrs. C. Atkinson (-1-6).

GEORGE PARKER TO LEAD YALE NINE

Pitcher's Distinction

New Haven, Conn., June 24. George Parker of Hopkinton, Mass., who pitched Yale to victory in many of its major engagements this season, has been elected captain of the Yale nine for next season. He prepared for Yale at Exeter.

Samuel B. Webb Jr. of New York was promoted to the manager's position, succeeding another New Yorker Robert P. Wagner Jr., son of the Senator.

HARBOUR RACE TO-DAY.

European "Y" Should Win Event.

LANGE AND CAMPBELL ARE FAVOURITES.

This afternoon commencing at 2.30 p.m. the Chinese Bathing Club are holding their fifth swimming gala in the form of a harbour race, starting from a point opposite the Club at North Point—probably at the Lighthouse.

The event which is open to both sexes of affiliated Clubs of the Hong Kong International Amateur Swimming Association, has so far drawn a big entry list and the event is assured of success.

The race is divided into five sections comprising two sections open to affiliated Clubs of the H.K.I.A.S.A. for Men and Ladies, two sections for Club members, Men and Ladies, and the fifth section for Veterans. The first three in each section are eligible for a prize, while those members of the Chinese Bathing Club that finish the race in under 45 minutes will be awarded a silver medal.

The prizes for the events have been kindly donated by Marshall Li Chai-sun, Marshall Chen Meng-shu and Marshall Li Chung-yan.

Entrants are requested to assemble at the Chinese Bathing Club at 2 p.m., as numbers and details will be given between then and the time the launch leaves—2.30 p.m.

As the Royal Navy are unable to get together a fairly representative team, the Kowloon Y.M.C.A. will be the only European Club participating, and, judging from their probable entrants, they have high hopes of carrying off the event.

Chinese Entrants.

The home Club, will have the services of Tsang Ho-fook, Leung Shui-mun, Wong Yat-hung and probably Lam Yung-chung, while Shik Kam-pui will represent the Young Companions.

The European Y.M.C.A., who stand a good chance for first and second places, will have H. Lange, W. Campbell, E. W. Railton, and one other who has not yet been selected.

In the Ladies Section, Miss Young Sau-king (S.C.A.A.) is favoured for the title, but she will be given a good race by Mrs. A. C. Schreuder ("Y" Ladies), her strongest rival.

A launch will leave the Chinese Bathing Club at 2.30 p.m. The following are the Club entrants (Men) as sent in to the C.B.C.:

S.C.A.A.—Kwok Chun-hang, Wong Suen-man, Cheung Wing-kwong, Cheh Kin-hung and Wong Ying-mun.
Chung Sing B.S.—Chow Chiang-kwong, Pan Ping-wen, So Tin-mu, Yeh Sun-chang and Lam Shui-soo.
C.B.C.—Liang Han-chun, Chiang Peng-lin, Chiang Peng-teng, Yang Fook-pui, Pung Kim-hung, Sing Chiu-shui, Yung Fook-kai, Kwang Yee-hun, Wu Yung-cheng, Tang Po-wen, Tang Po-chang, Tang Po-wen, Ter Sing-cho, Kwang Tung-king, So Chun-wu, Kwang Fook-sing, Liu Po-hun, Tain Wei-mi, Kwang Kai-to, Wu Han-chiao, Chiu Moo-him, Yiu Kwang-to, Kwang Yat-hung, Kwang Yat-chiao, Pan Mu, Chen Shi-wei and Yang Shiu-lung.

Chinese Civil Servants—Chan Fook-sing, Cheung Yu-tin, Lai Pui-wan, Chiang King-to and Mak Weng-weng.

Ladies Competing.

The following are the Ladies' entrants from the various affiliated Clubs:

S.C.A.A.—Miss Young Sau-king, Miss Young Sau-chun and Miss Young Wing-shan.
Chung Sing B.S.—Miss Lam Pui-oi, Miss Lam To-lai, Miss Wu Yuh-ai, Miss Pang Shui-ha and Miss Wa Yu-tuen.
C.B.C.—Miss Chen Yuen-shiang, Chan Weng-mi, Miss Liang Yu-chen, Miss Liang Yu-fong, Miss So Chun-wen and Miss Ho Chul-ha.
Chinese Civil Servants—Miss Chen Wun-king.

Two Colony Swimming Championships

Association Dates
Fixed.

V. R. C. POSITION.

A fitting close to the first season of the Hong Kong International Amateur Swimming Association will be provided by the staging of the Colony Championships. These, it is announced, will probably take place on three dates, September 7, 8 and 9, in the European Y.M.C.A.'s pool, providing that permission is granted.

Judging from the success of the Association's gala on June 24, these championships should prove most successful.

At the meeting of the H.K.I.A.S.A. Council on Friday, the various events were discussed and the following were approved of for Men:

50 Yards Free Style
100 Yards Free Style
220 Yards Free Style
440 Yards Free Style
880 Yards Free Style
Diving (Combined Plain and Fancy)

200 Yards Team Race (Teams of four)
200 Yards Breast Stroke
100 Yards Back Stroke
The following events were decided for Ladies:

50 Yards Free Style
100 Yards Free Style
440 Yards Free Style (Providing there are four entries)
200 Yards Breast Stroke
100 Yards Back Stroke
200 Yards Team Race (Teams of four)
Diving (Providing there are four entries).

In addition to the above there will be a water-polo game between two teams which will be decided at a later date by the Finance Committee, who have the arrangements in hand.

Two Championships.

As a result of the H.K.I.A.S.A. Council's decision to hold their own Championships in September, the question of the Colony Championships to be held under the auspices of the Victoria Recreation Club now arises.

Rule 9 of the Association Rules reads: "Clubs and players under the jurisdiction of this Association shall not take part in any competition organised by non-affiliated Clubs or Associations not recognised by this Association."

This ruling makes it impossible for any of the first-class swimmers in Clubs recognised by the Association to take part in the Colony Championships held under the auspices of the V.R.C. who are not an affiliated Club.

The Championships to be held by the V.R.C. will only be confined to such clubs which are not affiliated to the new Association—Chinese Athletic, Fukien A.A., Chinese Y.M.C.A., and the Army.

WORLD RECORDS SHATTERED

U.S. Lady Swimmers
On The Mark.

New York, Yesterday.

Eleanor Holm and Leonore Knight, two of America's foremost lady swimmers, broke world records at Jones Beach, Long Island, yesterday.

Attacking her own 220 Yards Back Stroke world record of 2 mins. 57 4/5 secs., Miss Holm clocked 2 mins. 57 1/5 secs. in sensational manner.

Miss Knight clipped 6 1/5 secs. off Helene Madison's world record for the 440 Yards Free Style. She clocked 5 mins 33 3/5 secs. against the former record of 5 mins 39 4/5 secs. This is 23 3/5 secs. better than Joyce Cooper's British record.

Both swimmers represented America at the Olympic Games last July, Miss Holm being selected as the prettiest competitor. She has since frequented Hollywood.

Helen Madison previously held every woman's free style world record—thirteen in all—ranging from 100 Yards to One Mile.—Reuters.

CHAMPIONS LOSE AT KOWLOON DOCKS

CIVIL SERVICE WIN BY
40 SHOTS

HYDE LAY'S RINK SCORE 8

CRAIGENGOWER, the premier league bowls champions, and the Kowloon Bowling Green, leaders in both divisions, were defeated yesterday.

Beaten on two rinks the champions lost to Kowloon Docks by 7 shots, the Docks thus repeating their success last year. The Bowling Green succumbed unexpectedly to the K.C.C. in the senior division, and lost ingloriously to the Police in the junior division.

The Civil Service attempted to emulate their win by 71 shots against Taikoo last year, but had to be content with a win by 40 shots yesterday. Another big win was recorded when the Recreation trounced the K.C.C. by 44 shots. The Police recorded their first home win of the season when they beat the Recreation by the narrowest possible margin.

A Hyde Lay's rink (W. Hyde, J. A. Howe and E. C. Fincher) recorded an 8 against H. Nish's all-conquering rink to win by 15 shots. This is the second eight of the season, W. S. Drake's rink (C. L. Farmer, G. H. Owen, and W. E. Hale) having achieved the feat against A. E. Carey's rink in the junior division.

S. Eccleshall and Bob Marks were skips to return sevens, while J. W. Deakin, W. Mair, H. V. Pearce and C. A. Lopes all had sixes. By recording a 25 shots win over W. Wotherpoon's rink J. W. Deakin's rink (H. E. Strange, S. Alderman and F. J. Jones) recorded the biggest win of the season.

CHINESE ATHLETIC NIGHT FETE

Coolies' Race Provides Excitement.

V.R.C. WIN AT POLO

Excellent aquatic events were last night witnessed at North Point, when the Chinese Athletic Association held their second bi-monthly swimming gala before a very large gathering of spectators.

The outstanding event of the evening was the excellent Coolies' race which provided a very close finish and some splendid swimming.

Contrary to expectations the entrants in this event displayed fine form and cut through the water faster and in better style than some of those swimmers who contested the Men's sprint races.

A disappointing water-polo game between the Victoria Recreation Club and the Chinese Athletic Association first team concluded the programme. The visitors won by 2 goals to 1 in a game marred by bad tackling and poor refereeing. C. Roza-Pereira scored both the V.R.C. goals and Yeung Man-kit scored for the Chinese Athletic.

The following were the results:

McINNES WINS BASEBALL GAME FOR CLUB

Dramatic Slide Into Home-Plate.

RED STORIE HITS HOMER
FOR U.S. NAVY

Making a spectacular slide into the home-plate in the last of the ninth inning L. McInnes gave the Hong Kong Americans an 8 to 7 win over the U.S. Navy when the local team had already two outs against them at Caroline Hill yesterday afternoon.

Owing to the fact that two of the local team's nine failed to appear substitutes were provided by the U.S. Navy in White and Ridgeway, and the game was played in the nature of an exhibition and not a League encounter.

"Red" Storie, the Navy's star batter, hit the only home run of the game when he smashed out a fast ball down the first-base line in the fourth innings.

Nine innings of real baseball were played before the local Americans were able to snatch a win by 8 to 7. There were numerous errors during the game, and the local team had to use two pitchers who have never been on the mound for them before. In spite of their handicap, however, they provided a good game from the spectators' point of view.

"Chuck" Shank started on the mound for the local Club, and the sailors were given five bases on balls by him, but they were unable to make any hits. D. Leonard went on the mound for Shank in the third inning.

McInnes, the Club's star third-baseman, knocked the ball out to centre and made a good three-bagger in the first inning, but he did not score on it.

Sieto, Zaffra and Dunham were credited with two base hits.

The score was 7-7 in the last of the seventh inning, and two more innings had to be played before a decision was reached.

The new Spalding laminated multi-ply rackets are the fastest and most powerful ever produced. They can be strung to the highest possible tension without risk of warping thus giving tremendous pace to the ball as it leaves the racket.

ASSASSINATION LED TO THE WAR INTIMATE LIGHT ON LIFE OF ROYAL HEIR

ARCHDUKE FERDINAND OF AUSTRIA

(By F. B. Bradley-Birt.)

NINETEEN years ago, on June 28, the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, was assassinated at Sarajevo. This character-sketch, by a writer who has just had placed into his hands private letters of the Archduke, throws an intimate light on the personality of the man whose murder started the Great War.

Singularly little is known in this country of the man whose death was the signal for the outbreak of war. For years the European horizon had been darkening. The murder at Sarajevo on June 28, 1914, was the spark that set Europe aflame.

The assassination by a Serb of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, was the final act in a long drama of hatred and bitterness.

What of the man whose death was of such tremendous import? Personal letters of his that have recently been put into my hands throw an illuminating light upon his manner of life and character. They are addressed to one of his aides-de-camp.

To Englishmen he is but a name. Unlike most of the Austrian Imperial family, he was no linguist. Beyond his native German he spoke only Italian and his wife's language, Czech, and those but indifferently.

When he came to England to represent his uncle Francis Joseph at the Coronation it was told of him that he spoke only four words of English—"Open the window" and "Champagne." His passionate love of fresh air prompted the one phrase. Merely a preference for champagne, over other wines, not a predilection for it, prompted the other. He was extremely abstemious.

Shortly before the war he paid another visit to England, a State visit to the King and Queen. This time he was accompanied by his wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, whose cordial reception at the English Court, though not of royal birth, delighted him. The sure way to the Archduke's heart was through his wife, the one love of his life.

Made No Error

The assassins of Sarajevo made no mistake. The man they had marked down was the one man who might have coped with the situation had he outlived Francis Joseph and ascended the throne. They acted only just in time. Two more years and Francis Ferdinand, through the death of his uncle, would have been Emperor. The fate of the Austro-Hungarian Empire would have lain in his hands.

If ever a Royal love affair was a romance with a happy ending it was the Archduke's. Urged to marry in order to secure the succession, he was sent off to visit one of the Imperial Archduchesses with a bevy of eligible daughters. But he looked at none of them. It was with Countess Sophie Chotek, one of the ladies-in-waiting, that he fell in love at first sight.

Not all the wrath of Francis Joseph nor the contempt of his many Imperial relatives deterred him from marrying the non-royal woman of his choice.

It was in 1900, in his castle at Konopischt, in Bohemia, that he married the Countess Sophie Chotek. His stepmother, the Archduchess Marie Therese, almost of an age with himself, and the one woman hitherto to whom he had confided all his hopes and aspirations, was the only member of the Imperial Family present. All the rest cold-shouldered the morganatic wife of the heir.

But through all the humiliation that was poured upon her she remained smiling and serene. She had what she valued most. It was he who fumed when, as heir to the throne, he had to pass first in royal processions while the woman he loved had to walk last, behind even the youngest archduchess. Between husband and wife there was, from first to last, complete accord. When they died it was side by side, as they would have wished.

During his long years of waiting Francis Ferdinand realised fully the great struggle that awaited him when the old Emperor's end should come, and prepared himself in every possible way. He travelled constantly within the empire. He sought to acquaint himself personally with all matters of national interest.

"I think it quite unjustifiable that a man who is in reality a rogue should get a pension of a thousand crowns," he wrote indignantly on one occasion. "This is not fair towards all the many other petitioners who are much poorer and whose distress is not their own fault. Poor devils who are really honest get from the Ministry or from the Imperial Chancery the answer that there is no money. You remember only recently the case of the Uhlán whose leg was amputated."

"Big Thieves Go Free"

Still indignant, he adds a postscript to the letter:—

"In this matter the principle has been observed. Small thieves are hanged. Big ones go free."

For the poor and needy his sympathy was ever ready. He loved to go among simple peasant folk and to talk with his soldiers and sailors.

His foresters were his special delight. A splendid body of carefully selected men, picturesque in their green costumes and feather-decked hats, they controlled the great shooting estates that were models of efficiency.

Shooting was the Archduke's chief pastime, and he was reputed the finest shot in the Empire. His average was 40 hits to one miss. In a single day he had been known to bag 400 hares, and during a three-days' shoot in Bohemia he once accounted for 1070 brace of pheasants.

At the back of all his thoughts and actions was his intense patriotism.

"Remain always a good Austrian patriot," he writes to his aide-de-camp on his appointment to a mission in the Balkans, "and safeguard our interests within your sphere of action."

He had little love for the Hungarians. He regarded them, or a certain section of them, as intent on breaking up the empire. He could never forgive them for insisting on separating the Hungarian army from the Austrian.

His love for art was deep and genuine. Nothing aroused his indignation more than to hear of an art treasure sold and lost to his country. Once he writes of "a most marvellous statue of a Tyrolean Saint" that had been sold from a chapel to a dealer and taken to

After a time, the workman suggested that the occupier of the office should call up an acquaintance in order to test the working of the instrument. The man obligingly called for the telephone number of his own home.

When the connection was made, he spoke into the transmitter:—

"Marla!" There followed a few seconds of waiting, and he repeated his call in a peremptory tone: "Marla!"

The storm that had been gathering broke at this moment. The telephone wires were struck by lightning and the man was hurled violently under his desk. Presently he crawled forth in a dazed condition, and regarded the repair man plaintively.

"That was her!" he declared. "The telephone works fine."

ACE-SHOWING AND THE NEW RULES A RETURN TO FAVOUR (By CAPT. LINDSAY MUNDY)

In the earlier days of Contract the device of Ace-showing became quite fashionable. But gradually it dropped out, partly because of frequent misunderstandings as to whether a take-out bid was meant as Ace-showing or as a business bid. Also largely because it was found that a small slam contract could be arrived at quite satisfactorily without running the risk of those misunderstandings, while the bidding of a grand slam was a great rarity, as under the old laws it entailed laying odds of about three to one on its success.

With the advent of the new international laws which raised the grand-slam bonus to three times the value of the small slam, those odds of 3-1 disappeared, and the raising of a small-slam bidding has become an important factor in the game.

Obviously it must be wrong to bid a grand slam unless the partnership hold either all the Aces, or a chicane in any suit of which they miss the ace. Ace-showing, therefore, has come into its own again, but it is now called feature-showing, or sometimes cue-bidding. The difference in name is due to the fact that the device—call it convention if you will—not only shows the holding of aces, but also of chicanes, and sometimes of kings. This latter feature will be explained later.

THE FIRST ESSENTIAL

The first essential of feature-showing is that it does not begin to operate until the bidding is "set," which means that the suit in which the hand is to be played has been agreed upon. There are two ways by which this comes about. The first is an opening bid of Three or more of a major suit, or Four or more of a minor suit. As these bids are only made when the opener is strong enough in the suit bid to make him independent of trump support from his partner, they are taken as "setting" the declaration, with the exception that after a Three-Club opening which receives a negative response, re-opening with Three of a major suit does not "set" the declaration, as the main idea of these Club convention bids is to allow the opener to show two suits for his partner to choose between.

A curious situation arises when the responder holds such a freakishly strong suit that he wants to play the hand in it, despite the opener's declared desire to play in his own suit. In such a case the responder's first take-out is read as feature-showing, the opener is bound to bid again, and the responder then repeats his suit, thus denying that his first bid was feature-showing, and stating that in reality he wants to play the hand in his suit.

ANOTHER METHOD

The second method of "setting" the declaration is for the responder to support the opener's suit, but this only applies to jump bids. For instance:

South 2 Hearts North 3 Hearts
South 3 Spades
would mean that South is showing a two-suit hand and asking North whether he has better support for Spades than for Hearts, but:

South 2 Hearts North 4 Hearts
South 4 Spades or 6 Clubs would be showing the Ace of the suit mentioned, and suggesting a slam. It is obvious that as North has jumped to Four Hearts there would be no need to ask him if he has better support for a second suit.

RULES OF PROCEDURE

Once the declaration is set, procedure must follow very definite rules. The commencement of feature-showing always suggests a slam bid, and the continuation of it always accepts that suggestion. Let us suppose that the declaration has been "set" in Spades. The bidding of any other suit definitely shows the holding of either the Ace or chicane in the new suit, and also definitely denies holding the Ace of any lower suit not yet mentioned.

When either player has no further Ace which he can show, he can then show the King of any suit of which his partner has shown the Ace. Any such bid definitely denies the holding of any unshown Ace. A return to the suit in which the declaration is "set" shows that there is no further feature to be shown.

POINTS TO NOTE

The following point should be noted:

- (1) An Ace should be shown first in preference to any chicane as should also the King of a suit in which partner has shown the Ace.
- (2) The King of a suit in which a player has shown the Ace cannot be shown by the same player. Bidding that suit twice would deny feature-showing and would indicate desire to play the hand in that suit.
- (3) Either player should jump straight to a grand slam as soon as he has received sufficient information to make that bid a sound proposition.

AN EXAMPLE

The following example shows how the above laws work out, and should make them quite clear.

South
S.—A K J 10 x x (5½) Q x x
H.—Nil A x x x x
D.—A Q x x x (3) K x
C.—x x A x x

South 3 Spades.
Shows at least 8 probable tricks and "sets" the declaration.
North 4 Clubs
Shows the Ace of Clubs and slam possibilities.

South 4 Diamonds.
Shows Ace of Diamonds and accepts slam invitation.

North 4 Hearts.
Shows Ace of Hearts.

South 4 Spades.

No further feature to show. Cannot show chicane of suit in which partner has shown the Ace.

North 5 Diamonds.

Shows King of Diamonds of which South has shown the Ace.
South 7 Spades.

South can now account for every trick except possibly the Queen of Spades, but he knows North has some Spade support from the fact of his giving a slam invitation. It should be noted that he could not bid the grand slam if North had not been able to show him the King of Diamonds.

Assassination Led To The War.

Germany. "We allow our art treasures to be exported," he wrote disgustedly, "and the Germans simply laugh at us."

Beautiful Home

One can understand, when one sees it, his love for his magnificently situated castle at Konopischt, a three hours' motor run from Prague, in Bohemia. The armoury is one of the finest in Europe. One large hall contains nothing but representations of St. George and the Dragon. It is an astonishing sight — all paintings, sketches, stone figures, statuettes, wood carvings, England's patron Saint in every conceivable form.

From the Archduke's own room, high up, one looks down upon the garden that he planned with so much care, the garden where his last hours of happiness were spent. It was from this room that he set out for Sarajevo.

His room is all just as he left it. Only the little personal belongings have gone. His children, to whom they brought the news of Sarajevo in the garden down below, were allowed to take them away. The new Government appropriated the castle.

Only, slung over the arm of the looking-glass on the dressing table, still hangs a little bunch of ball programmes that he had kept. On one of these there is pencilled in his handwriting one word—his wife's name.

Below the windows in the garden once every year, in summer time, the Archduke held Rose Day. From every corner of the neighbourhood, winding up the steep ascent, came men, women and children in their gayest array, to enjoy the beauty of this Royal pleasure. And every maid was allowed to gather one rose to wear and carry away to be cherished long years afterwards.

To-day the garden is empty. The roses still bloom, but no gay throng comes up the winding path to gather them. There is a strange air of tension over house and garden. It is as if they waited. Nineteen years ago to-day!

The Hong Kong Sunday Herald.

HONG KONG, SUNDAY, JULY 23, 1933.

Wall Street And Hong Kong.

TO the average Hong Kong resident the slump on the American stock markets conveys no particular significance outside the fact that the event affords sensational news. Three reasons exist, however, for viewing the Wall Street collapse as a matter of vital concern to the Colony. First, and of no great consequence, not a few local people speculate on the New York markets, and many have suffered heavy losses during the past three days. Investors are not as numerous as in Shanghai, but quite a few have availed themselves of the extended facilities provided here for active participation in the New York share transactions. The second, and more intimate reason involves an issue intimate to the whole community. Together with all other commodities silver has experienced a marked decline in value, and as a consequence, the Hong Kong dollar has fallen. On the first day of the relapse of the American markets, July silver dropped from 40.80 cents to 39.80 cents. This fall, combined with the pessimistic reports from the silver committee now negotiating in London, caused a decline of seven-sixteenths on the London market. The local dollar accordingly dropped. On Wednesday the dollar was at 1/5 1/4; yesterday's quotation was 1/4 3/8, silver having depreciated further in New York. On Friday the metal had dropped to 35.70 cents. It will be seen, therefore, that wild fluctuations on the American stock markets are attended by unsettling and disturbing effects here, the vagaries of exchange becoming more extreme. Hong Kong's third, and perhaps principal, interest in Wall Street activities is as an important port and as a large distributing and trade centre. The whole world is watching with deep concern the efforts of the Roosevelt administration to combat the depression and restore industry by raising price levels. It was President Roosevelt's decision to pursue a nationalist policy of this description which created the deadlock at the World Economic Conference, the proposal for currency stabilisation being incompatible with the American programme of inflation. If Mr. Roosevelt fails — and the stock market crash constitutes a severe check to his programme — the effect will be disastrous, not only to the United States, but to the whole world. The economic ills which have produced the present trade stagnation would be increased to an extent which would threaten gravely the present economic system. The Colony, which has hitherto escaped the full effects of the depression, is now sharing more fully in the general trade paralysis, and the big drop in imports and exports disclosed in the statistics for the first half-year provoke disquiet. If an industrial collapse took place in America, the outlook here would be alarming. It is early yet to calculate the dimensions of the market collapse, but it must be borne in mind that part at least of the collapse was inevitable, as a technical reaction is perfectly normal in a swiftly-rising market. There was no need for undue perturbation on the first day, but as the selling wave gathered force on Thursday official misgivings were felt. Expectations that the panic would abate on Friday were rudely dispelled, the sales totalling 9,570,000, the highest day's trading since the 1929 crash. Over 25,000,000 shares changed hands in the three days, and half the gains of the Roosevelt boom were wiped out. Industrial issues declined nearly 20 points while the wheat market collapsed in such sensational manner that the grain exchanges have been closed. Opponents of inflation schemes, and they are numerous in America, will now adopt the "I told you so" attitude, and it is not inconceivable that their influence will grow now that public confidence has been so badly shaken. The administration is committed to its inflation programme and it is unlikely that the President will change his policy at this critical juncture. He has wide powers to institute much more drastic inflation measures, and it is probable that he will employ them as circumstances demand. President Roosevelt faces tremendous responsibilities. He has provoked antagonism abroad by causing the breakdown of the World Economic Conference, and now he is facing yet another crisis in his own country. But whatever the wisdom of his decisions, (and he has not yet been proven wrong) he has commanded admiration for the resolute, courageous and decisive manner in which he has acted during his brief term of office. He will be fortified by the knowledge that an anxious nation — indeed an anxious world — hopes that the results of his economic experiments will prove successful.

BUYING A WIFE BY INSTALMENTS

$120 Paid Before Man Sees Girl.

SOUTH SERBIA CUSTOM

Belgrade. The custom of paying for wives on the instalment system is growing in South Serbia, especially in the Kosova district. For wives have to be bought at a high price there — and few young men can afford to put down a lump sum in these hard times. The normal scale of instalments is: £20 for the first year, £20 for the second year, £40 for the third year, and £40 for the fourth year.

It is not until the last instalment has been paid that the young man gets his wife, whom he has probably never seen, but once the final instalment has been paid the girl belongs to the young man's family.

In the bridegroom should die before the wedding, the girl must marry one of his brothers, uncles, or other relatives — some times even his father.

The £120 paid for a wife represents wealth in Kosova. It would buy an estate, for ten acres of land costs only £20.

So boys are engaged at 16 — and then they and their fathers begin to earn the money to pay for the wife. Often land has to be sold and money borrowed before the girl is at last won. — Reuter.

RECIPE FOR LONG LIFE

103-Year-Old Woman's Advice.

REMEMBERS AUSTRALIAN DROUGHT

Sydney, N.S.W. Most people could live to be 90 if they took the necessary care of themselves and observed a few simple rules.

This is the opinion of Mrs. Sarah Musgrave, who has celebrated her 103rd birthday.

Absstinence from intoxicating liquor, moderation in eating, plenty of sleep, contentment of mind, and a reasonable amount of work, together with cleanliness and godliness, is her recipe for longevity.

Looking back 80 or 90 years, Mrs. Musgrave believes that the greatest changes in life compared with those of old days are the methods of transport and the remarkable freedom of present-day girls.

The veteran was the first white child born in the Young district, and she has a keen recollection of the early days. In the awful drought of 1849-52 she worked 10 hours daily manning the windlass to draw water for the starving stock. When the flood broke she was marooned in an aborigine's hut for eight days.

She has 96 descendants, including two great great-grandchildren. Her sister, who died in December at the age of 98, left 190 descendants.

Mrs. Musgrave still sews and does housework, travels to Sydney by train to shop, and reads newspapers and books. — Reuter.

Lisbon. A 12-year old saw two wolves leave their lair in the hills behind his village in Beira Alta.

When they had gone, he crawled into the den, carried their litter of five young ones away, and killed them.

He earned a reward of £5 from the Government, but, he also got a thrashing from his father for risking his life by going into the wolves' den. — Reuter.

Sydney, N. S. W. A city postman who has just retired after 27 years service, walked in that period, it is estimated, approximately 65,000 miles and delivered 10,278,000 letters, 90,000 registered articles, 30,000 packets and 100,000 newspapers. — Reuter.

from
OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT
June 20.

Delegate and Painter.

By way of light relief from the routine of the Economic Conference, one delegate decided to give an exhibition of his own painting in London.

The artist was Mr. Edward Bruce, of the American delegation, who is not only a painter of distinction and a medallist of the Paris Salon, but also a collector of Chinese art.

Mr. Bruce's works were shown at the Leicester Galleries on July 4. They attracted a large number of his fellow-delegates at the Geological Museum.

A Hiking M. P.

Repeated Parliamentary questions have failed to reveal the number of M. P.s who, as an economy gesture, travel to and from their constituencies on third-class rail vouchers. But we may rest assured that when the House of Commons reassembles to-day no member will have walked from his constituency.

In the reign of George III. Mr. Barclay, of Ury, member for Kincardine, always walked from his constituency to London—a distance of nearly 500 miles. This was before the days of short adjournments.

Mr. Barclay could walk 50 miles a day. His usual refreshment on the road was a bottle of port, poured into a bowl, and drunk off at a draught.

He was the father of an even more famous pedestrian, Captain Barclay, who won a bet of 5000 guineas for walking 90 miles in 2 1/2 hours.

The Ballet "Boom."

The very meagre supply of opera in London this summer is counterbalanced by exceptional ballet activity. A season of ballet opened at the Savoy last night, and at Covent Garden shortly there are to be special performances of a high order, arranged for the delectation of the members of the Economic Conference.

Now comes the news that what is left of the existence of the old Alhambra is to be enlivened by a visit of what is left of the famous Diaghileff troupe. M. Woizikovsky and M. Massine are familiar names in the company. But the troupe will not include Mme. Karsavina and Mme. Lopokova, both of whom are now in London and both married to Englishmen, the latter to Mr. J. M. Keynes.

A tragic absentee will be the great Nijinsky, who for years has been in a mental home in Switzerland.

Then and Now.

It is hardly correct to say, as has been suggested, that this move means that the Alhambra will "end its career with ballet, the type of entertainment with which it began."

The Alhambra ballets of the old days had their merits; but they were somewhat perfunctory affairs, without the completeness or the artistic re-creation of the Diaghileff productions. They usually lasted about three-quarters of an hour, the remainder of the programme being devoted to variety.

Ballet is taken with immense seriousness by modern enthusiasts.

Prince Bismarck for London.

Rumours that President Hindenburg is seriously ill and that he will be replaced by Prince August Wilhelm are unfounded.

The President, who will be 80 next October, is taking a well-earned rest at Neudeck, his East Prussian estate. His physical powers, true, are not what they were. He will do no more Alpine climbing to shoot chamois. But he still takes his daily walk, enjoys excellent health, and his mind is as clear as ever.

Londoners will be glad to hear that Prince Bismarck and his charming wife are to return permanently to London. The Prince is now attached to the German Delegation to the World Conference. When it is over he will resume his long-interrupted duties as Secretary of the German Embassy.

Gifts for League Palace.

When the Economic Conference delegates have got over the novelty of their own furniture at the Geological Museum they can go to India House and inspect the exhibition suite in silver grey wood which is the gift of the Indian Government to the new League Palace.

Although the new buildings will not be ready for occupation until 1935, the President, following the custom instituted for the Hague Peace Palace, has already invited presents from the members of the League. India has been the first to respond.

Some of these presents may prove embarrassing. National gifts, unlike private ones, cannot be exchanged, however unsuitable, and must be permanently and prominently displayed, not merely brought out when a visit from the donor is expected.

As there is no accounting for national taste, the League, which has now 57 members, may risk having 57 varieties.

The King's Interpreter.

M. Mathieu, who interpreted the King's speech at the Economic Conference, is regarded as the star interpreter at Geneva, and usually "covers" all the big speeches in the assembly.

He is a small, fair Frenchman with fluffy hair, and invariably wears a bow tie. His accuracy is absolute, but his voice is attention. When listening to a speech he takes notes in the language into which he is going to translate it.

M. Mathieu's chief colleague at South Kensington, M. le Bosquet, is bilingual by birth, being a native of Jersey.

He is tall and dark and handsome. His interpretations are more emotional than those of his colleagues, and he makes a free use of gesture. His voice is low and melodious.

A Human Gramophone.

The two most remarkable members of the League interpreting staff have been left behind: they are Mme. Agrestti and Mr. Russell.

Mme. Agrestti, who is a niece of D. G. Rossetti, is a human gramophone. She never takes a note and reproduces with unflinching accuracy the longest and most technical speech. Her voice is monotonous and expressionless. She gives the impression of acting as an automaton.

Mr. Russell does not translate: he remakes the speech he has heard in a fresh language with a fire and eloquence of which the original speaker is often incapable. He orates with equal fervour in French, Spanish, and English.

I. L. Optimism.

The International Labour Office Conference has decided by an overwhelming vote to do nothing definite this year about the 40-hour week proposal—the proposal in honour of which Great Britain, at the expense of its taxpayers, sent 32 representatives and their attendant secretaries to Geneva.

Supporters of the I. L. O. are now explaining that this does not imply a technical knock-out for the 40-hour plan. They point out that this year's Conference is now going to decide on a questionnaire to which the Governments shall reply before the end of the year so that next year's Conference may draw up a convention, and that, they add, is normal procedure.

But the I. L. O. has not treated the 40-hour question as a normal one. It has done all it could to proclaim that this is a matter of urgency.

WAIFS AND STRAYS BENEFACITOR

Memorial Service For Society Founder

BISHOP OF LONDON'S TRIBUTE.

London. A memorial service has been held at St. Paul's Cathedral for Prebendary Edward de Montjoie Rudolf, founder of the Church of England Waifs and Strays Society. Canon Alexander officiated and 300 children from the Society's London Homes attended the service.

The Bishop of London, paying a tribute to Prebendary Rudolf, said that while on his many journeys during his visit to Canada, the Prebendary's train had been continually stopped by deputations.

At one station in Nova Scotia children came to the train and presented him with a bouquet, saying "You are the children's friend." He replied that he was much touched but that he had done nothing to deserve such kindness.

If there was one man who deserved that title, said the Bishop, it was Prebendary Rudolf. In 1881 he had been an unknown person, but he was shocked by the fact that there were so many suffering children. With the aid of Archbishop Tait he founded the Waifs and Strays Society, which in its first year housed 34 children in two homes and in 1932 had the care of 4,500 children in 109 homes, which turned out thousands of men who were serving their church and the Empire as good citizens. —Reuter.

SURGERY MARVEL IN AUSTRALIA

R.A.F. Musicians Finger
Saved By Skill.

"BETTER THAN BEFORE"

Sydney, N.S.W.

Following skilled treatment by doctors at the Prince of Wales Hospital, Randwick, where he has been a patient for two months, Ernest Keller, young air force mechanic and musician, expects to leave with a finger almost as good as it ever was.

While he was working at the Richmond aerodrome, one of the fingers of his left hand was stripped practically to the bone. In the hope of preserving his competence as a musician, the doctors refrained from amputating it.

The finger was first placed in an aperture, cut in the thigh, and after skin had been grafted on it was encased in lead bandages.

A little more skin grafting remains to be done, particularly at the top of the finger, which is expected finally to be within a quarter of an inch of its usual length.

"I have already tried myself out on the piano," said Mr. Keller. "My playing was quite up to the mark, and the sensation on the injured finger was no more than one would feel from an ordinary sore finger. In fact, the injured finger is more supple in the joints than are my other fingers on that hand."

Mr. Keller will remain in hospital probably for another month, and he may have a nail grafted on to the finger. This could be done by the transference of one of his toe nails.

Mr. Keller is bandmaster of the Royal Air Force band at Richmond. In addition to the piano, he can play the violin and several band instruments. —Reuter.

AMERICA TO SPEND FOR RECOVERY

GS1,000,000,000 Worth
Of Work.

PROGRAMME PREPARED

Washington.

The United States Government intends to pump $1,000,000,000 worth of work into America as fast as it believes industry will be stimulated into new life.

Night ago day, work in the office of ex-Brigadier General Hugh Johnson, the Administrator-Designate of the Industry Control and Public Works Act, is putting together a programme for undelayed, simultaneous letting of contracts on a huge share of the programme authorized by the new law which gives the government almost dictatorial powers to co-ordinate industry, production and wages and authorize expenditure of $3,000,000,000 on public works.

General Johnson hopes to have at least 1,000,000 men employed on the government projects by Autumn. He and his aides have gone over possible projects and have approved nearly $1,000,000,000 worth already. There is to be $50,000,000 of government buildings offered for contracts almost immediately. Another equal batch is planned to be ready ninety days later.

Under draft is a whole programme of rivers and harbours improvements.

All these enterprises are carefully divided regionally under a plan carrying the country into 12 districts for which engineers who know their land are checking off the jobs that can be tackled first and that will employ the most men for the money. —Reuter.

U.S. ANGLING FOR RUSSIAN TRADE

Government Loan For Amtorg Sought.

MR. BROOKHART'S PLANS

Washington, D.C.

Government credit is being sought to finance American trade with Soviet Russia.

Former Senator Brookhart, Trade Advisor to the New Farm Credit Administration, and representatives of Amtorg, the Soviet Trade agency in this country, have discussed the possibility of obtaining Reconstruction Corporation credit to finance cotton purchases here.

It has been reported that an initial advance of $5,000,000 has been under consideration and that if this were granted additional loans would be sought.

In addition to the possibility of a direct loan to Amtorg, Mr. Brookhart was reported to have started exploring the possibilities of loans to American groups agreeing to export cotton and other products to Russia on credit. This may be done under the new Farm Act.

Mr. Brookhart is centering his attention upon plans for exchanging Russian goods for American products where a minimum of credit would be required.

Farm administrators intend, however, to dispose of cotton and wheat acreage control programmes before taking final action on Russian trade plans.

Because the United States has not recognised the Soviet Government, farm administrators intend to submit proposals to President Roosevelt and the State Department before final action is taken. —Reuter.

U. S. EMPLOYMENT HOPES

Work For 4,000,000
By October.

1,000 NEW PROJECTS THIS MONTH

Washington.

Figures claimed to show that 4,000,000 idle men can be put back to work by October 1 are announced by Mr. Johnson, Director of the Public Works-Industrial Control Programme.

Almost simultaneously, Miss Perkins, Secretary of Labour, announces an increase of 4.8 per cent. in manufacturing employment and 11.5 per cent. in pay rolls during the month of May. Miss Perkins pointed out that the gains were far beyond the customary seasonal increases, but said they should not be interpreted as meaning that the course out of the industrial crisis of the last few years was clear.

"A portion of the advance in May should, as was the case in April, be regarded as recovery from the precipitate decline in employment pay rolls following the bank holiday in early March. Purchasing power is still considerably below that needed to take care of cumulative increase in production and therefore points to the essence of the problem which has characterized the whole course of the depression."

Figures gathered by his staff, Mr. Johnson said, indicated that 3,000,000 men could be put to work in industrial establishments by October 1, with an additional 1,000,000 employed on the public works programme.

Mr. Johnson described the business recovery measure as an adventure, but asserted that with co-operation on the part of owners of industrial plant the goal could be realized.

Mr. Johnson, with the aid of a corps of economists, labour students and industrialists, is devoting himself particularly to bringing industry together soon in the trade agreements from which higher wages and shorter hours for millions of men are expected to emerge.

The Administration is understood to be hoping to start work on 1,000 or more projects by the latter part of this month. —Reuter.

FLEXIBLE AGREEMENT
PROPOSED

London, Yesterday.

The United States suggested programme of commercial policy sent to the World Economic Conference by the United States Secretary of State, Mr. William C. The agreement regarding non-imposition of new barriers is subject to reservations, including additional duties on dumped goods.

The agreement will be open for adhesion by all Governments and will come into force when accepted by Governments representing 50 per cent. of the world's international commerce. It will be of indefinite duration, but one year after enforcement it may be denounced at one month's notice. —Reuter.

Restriction Of Production.

AUSTRALIA OPPOSES PRINCIPLE.

London, Yesterday.

In its Plenary session last evening the Economic Commission of the World Economic Conference received the report of its rapporteur, Mr. Walter Runciman, President of the British Board of Trade.

The Chairman, Dr. Colijn, read a letter from the Chief United States delegate, Mr. William C. Clegg, expressing the hope that, during the Conference recess, Governments, through diplomatic and other channels, would produce substantial proposals towards fulfilling the fundamental purpose of the Conference.

Mr. Hull enclosed a proposal of a possible agreement, for a protracted truce against the measures restriction to international trade.

During the discussion of the report, the Australian Minister in London, Mr. Stanley Bruce, emphasised that Australia, although willing to co-operate in seeing what action could be taken in regard to a particular commodity, was not prepared to subscribe to the principle of the restriction of production, which he maintained would not achieve the general objective of the Conference.

A special Drafting Committee was set up to realise, in the light of the discussion, the text of the commission's report. —British Wireless Service.

CHINESE CHARGED

The many petty thefts from the changing-rooms at the South China Bathing Sheds, North Point, was referred to at the Central Police Court this morning when Wong Wai, an unemployed Chinese was charged with stealing a pocket-book containing a $1 bank note, the property of Au Sing Sim, a school-boy.

Sergeant Baker said that the complainant and a friend decided to protect themselves against thefts from the changing-rooms, and deliberately placed a wad of joss bank notes covered with a genuine $1 note in a pocket-book. One went to swim while the other kept watch of the room. Soon after, the defendant was seen to enter the room and following him the friend caught him in the act of stealing the pocket-book. He was arrested and taken to the police station.

Enquiring how the defendant, being unemployed, could have got into the bathing shed, the Manager of the shed, Mr. Yip Sang Kee, told the Magistrate that the defendant had a season-ticket in the name of another person which he used as a pass. He could not say whether the owner of the pass was aware that the defendant was using his ticket.

The defendant was remanded in police custody until Monday morning for enquiries.

Neglected Records Of Christ

Few Attempts To Describe
His Appearance

EYES DEEP AND PIERCING

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

IT is a somewhat peculiar thing, at first sight, that in the pages of the Gospels, where alone we have recorded the life and character of Jesus Christ, that there is no attempt made anywhere to give us any clue as to his personal appearance. Most authors go to some pains to give the hero of their story a very clear cut description.

Yet there is no face better known, hallowed by tradition, than His. It has been cut out in the solid rock of the Catacombs under the streets of Rome, you will find it in the crumbling limestone of the Catacombs outside the town of Susse in Tunisia. It has been painted by the most famous artists in the world, sculptured in silver and bronze and gold, all down the ages of Christian history.

On second thoughts, it is not so remarkable that the writers of these Gospels gave us no clue. After all, they made no attempt to give us any detailed account of His life, in order of sequence, merely a series of impressions, as they remembered them in the after years, when His visible Presence had been withdrawn, and the Church of the first century was clamouring to know something authentic about their new found Master.

They gave no account of His appearance and features, but they do, here and there, refer to personal traits. For instance they tell us of His "looking at" people, suggesting that there must have been something arresting about His eyes. They must have been deep and piercing, as though His soul looked out of them.

Up to a point the way a man looks at you is often a pretty good indication of his character. There is nothing more annoying than talking to a person whose gaze is fixed two inches above your eyes, or wanders from King and Goble, while the all over the place. A shifty eye often means a shifty character.

Christianity, to those who really understand it, is not merely putting on your best clothes on Sundays, giving money to charity, and studying His teachings. It is all that, and then more. It means walking with Him personally along the pathway of life, with His eye always upon us, not picking out our faults, but as a friend. As Dr. Moule once put it, "If you want to sin, you must find a moment when He isn't looking and be quick and do it."

There are three instances when His looking at people is recorded.

The first was in the Synagogue at Capernaum on the Sabbath Day, when He healed the man with the withered hand. When the Scribes and Pharisees objected to His healing men on that day, "He looked at them in anger, being grieved at the hardness of their hearts."

They were good respectable people and churchgoers, and in His eyes there must have been a look that ached and withered. Their hardness was the sort that comes from wilfully blinding their eyes to the truth, because it cuts across a deep rooted prejudice, fell on his head whilst at work on Friday.

How often must He have looked down upon the Church that bears His Name in the years that have passed, when it has also through a similar blindness failed to seize its spark from a cooking-stove caught alight on the matting. The hut was valued at $200.

The only way He can work to-day is by human agents, and if they are blind to the truth, however much it varies from their preconceived ideas, then that work cannot be done.

The second occasion takes us back to the dark night in Jerusalem which saw His betrayal and arrest. From the garden they had led Him to the palace of the High Priest, and placed Him on trial for His life. His disciples had forsaken Him and fled, save one, who was following afar off.

As the cock crowed to the dawn, a man's voice rang out denying that the prisoner was any friend of His. And "Christ turned and looked on Peter." It was a different look this time. A look of sorrow mingled with tender affection, for that disciple who had so grievously failed Him at the bitter end.

Regretful Glances
And He looks on us very often in just the same way. When we deny Him before others, when we hide our principles, and fail to show our true colours, remain tongue-tied when we ought to speak, allow something to be said or done that we know to be wrong, because we fear the cost. When in fact we act as those who know Him not, then He turns and looks at us with just that look that drove Peter out into the darkness, sobbing as though his heart would break.

The third was the case of the rich young ruler who made what Dante called the "Great Refusal." He was the kind of man that Christ always sought. Honest and good, yet with a haunting lack in his life. One day he came and said "Good Master what must I do to have eternal life?"

The heart of Christ went out to him at once, and like a wise physician he treats this as a special case. "Keep the commandments," He said. "I have been doing this all my life. What lack I yet?" Christ knew he had, and looking him straight in the face, He risked an heroic remedy, and challenged him to face it. "Go, sell all you have, give it to the poor, and come and follow me."

The Fatal Step.
This was of course not meant for all men, it was a special remedy for a special case. "Lay aside your wealth, and take your place as the humble shabby follower of a homeless man. It was a big stake to risk. But the prize would be the friendship of the Son of God. He might have been the noblest of the disciples. It might have been the beginning of a splendid manhood. It was the supreme crisis of his life. Was he big enough? For a moment his eyes flashed with the glimpse of heroic possibilities. Then he hesitates and is lost. The light died out of his eyes. He could not face it, and he went away sorrowful, and he made Christ sorrowful too, for "looking on him, He loved him."

Perhaps that is true of us too. There may be much in us that He CAN love, a certain earnestness, a longing for the highest and best, a real wish to do what is right. Still it is a little wistfully that He looks. Just one step more we need, one sin to master, to find the way of life.

But it is the one thing we will not face, the one step we are afraid to make.

"CUT-THROAT" PRICE WAR.

Barbers Battle For Business.

Belgrade. Competition among the hairdressers of Novi Pazar has become so fierce that everyone is trying to go a cut below the others.

The record low price for tonsorial work has been advertised by one of the best shops in the town: Shaving 1-1/4d.—Shave and Hair-cut for ladies 1-3/4d.—Hair-cut for child 1/2d.—(1/2d) Shaving, hair-cut and trim as often as required for a month 1/1d.

The price charged for a "lady's hair-cut" is claimed to be a world low record, while, if a man cares to be shaved twice a day and have his hair trimmed once a day for a month, the cost will be about one-seventh of a penny per operation, less than 1/10d. a day. —Reuter.

U.S. Hopes Revived

The inexperience of Bernard leads experts to opine that whoever the challengers may be they will prove the conquerors.

Perry's Fine Volleying.
Allison was inclined to over-hit,
and Perry, volleying superbly, easily took the first set at 6-1 after only 10 minutes.

Allison was more cautious in the second set, his volleying being surer and the whole quality of his play being higher. With Perry netting badly Allison went to 3-1 and 4-2 leads, but after a series of attacks on each other's backhand 5-all was called.

Perry then resumed his fine
volleying and took a well played game to love off Allison's service and followed it up by winning his own service to take the set at 7-5.

Perry enjoyed an easy win in the third set. By unreturnable kills he led 3-1 but he slackened up, and Allison levelled at 4-all. Perry then came back well to sweep the American off his feet and take the set and match at 6-4.

Austin's Win.

The British colony turned up in full force to see Austin accomplish what was generally considered an impossibility.

Under a sub-tropical sun Vines
won his service on the first game by forceful playing. Austin, wearing a jockey cap and shorts, and playing short to Vines' backhand, levelled the score at 1-1.

Austin's brilliant, sharply-angled shots forced Vines to come up almost to the net, only to be pssed

by a shot down the sideline.

Austin faced Vines' hurricane service with determination, and broke through in the second game after several deuces. Vines broke down through striving to crush his opponent with whirlwind forehand drives. He seemed rattled.

Austin was confident and produced rhythmic and unerring drives.
He took six successive games.
Vines, in a momentary effort in the second set, twice need Austin with his terrific service and levelled the score at 1-1. But he again broke down trying to generate normal speed from a dirt surface.

Vines made inexcusable mistakes and served several double faults.

Austin broke through and won the first game in the third set but Vines, forsaking his forehand driving successfully tried lobbing and gained a lead of 2 to 1. Austin was steady and came back to lead
4-2 and 6-3. He lost the ninth game over-driving, but took the tenth.—Reuter.

Scores:

H. W. Austin (Britain) beat
E. Vines 6-1, 6-1, 6-4.
F. J. Perry (Britain) beat W.
Allison 6-1, 7-5, 6-4.

It is exactly the knowledge of now comparatively few of the boy athletes who do superbly well at 18 or 19 over do very much afterwards that makes one apprehensive. Whatever the explanation may be, if you look through the records and pick out boys who have succeeded afterwards and those who have not, with surprisingly few exceptions it is the mediocre performer at the public school sports who blossoms forth into the champion in later years.—H. M. Abraham.

ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

"STYLE," as applied to the Packard, has always meant something more.
Associated with it, logically and distinctively, is the other important word, "enduring"—a Packard characteristic for a third of a century.
So gradually and correctly has Packard style evolved—like the slow unfolding of a beautiful flower—it has never been at the mercy of that capricious mood which too often alienates to-morrow's style from that of to-day.

MOTORING NOTES.

Praise For New Ford V-8

Chicago Expert Tests
Standard Model.

COMFORT AND SAFETY

Mr. Herbert D. Wilson, motor car editor of a Chicago paper, has the following to say about the new 1933 Model 40 V-8 Fords:

"There certainly is nothing reminiscent of any previous model in the new 1933 Ford Eight. The new modern lines, roomy body, 112-inch wheel base and powerful engine distinguish the car as the finest of a long family to bear the name Ford."

"In the car given me for testing I was particularly interested in the unusual attention to detail evidenced in the rich interior trim."

"The new all-steel bodies are wider and almost a foot longer, measured from the dash, giving increased comfort to all passengers. The attractive new dash, with the instrument panel directly in front of the driver, has a large-faced speedometer which is easy to read without changing the driving position."

Safety Glass.

"The car was equipped with a safety glass windshield, and, since it was a de luxe model, had safety glass throughout. The dash also contained a cigarette lighter and concealed ash tray. In my opinion, the entire interior would do credit to a car of twice the price."

"In performance the car surpasses all previous models in getaway, top speed and engine smoothness. Although the particular car I drove had comparatively few miles on it, I was able to get sixty-one miles an hour in 'second' and eighty miles an hour in 'high' without difficulty."

"The motor throughout the entire test ran coolly, without overheating despite the high speed. I think a good deal of this fine performance is due to the new aluminum cylinder head which dissipates the heat faster than any previous cylinder head metal."

Comfort For All.

"Comfort for the driver and for his passengers in a small car is greatly dependent upon the roadability and riding comfort afforded."

CANADA.

In reply to a query the Editor of the "Policy" says:—

So far as the Dominion of Canada itself is concerned, it is unquestionably passing through a period of difficulty. But what country in the whole world is not? Even Great Britain went off the gold standard, and in relation to certain other currencies the pound sterling still stands at a substantial discount."

In such times as these no prudent man cares to commit himself to definite prophecies as to exactly what is going to happen as regards any country; but we venture to think that ultimately Canada will pull through just as we confidently believe Great Britain will pull through."

Ford has taken a long step forward in this new long wheel job.

"I want to tell you that there is a tremendous amount of comfort for all passengers and under all road conditions—rolling bumps, chuck-holes, wash-board ripples, concrete, dirt roads, macadam—it takes them all with ease and at the same time gives the driver a feeling of complete control of his automobile."

"A sense of safety is at all times apparent. Even at 80 miles an hour I felt no lightness, sway or insecurity."

"The new Ford is a car for all purposes and all classes of people. It delivers what you ask of it!"

MORRIS MOTORS.

£100,000 Increase In Year's Profit.

Morris Motors, Limited, made a profit of £912,674 for 1932, against £810,743 for 1931. The ordinary shares, almost all of which are held by Sir William Morris, are to receive a dividend of 10 per cent. tax free, which absorbs £200,000, as compared with 5 per cent. tax free, for the previous year. The reserve for contingencies stands at £642,025, of which £336,673 represents realised profit on sale of investments and appreciation of Government securities.

SINGER

this year

A Singer will save you money—not only in first cost but in upkeep, too. The redesigned cylinder head increases power output and keeps down petrol consumption. The bodies are comfortable and roomy, yet their light weight makes tyres last longer. Without a doubt you'll get more value out of a Singer than any other car. That is why the army of Singer enthusiasts is growing every day. Come and see what you think of the 1933 Singers.

I Endorse It Without Hesitancy—

The New Ford V-8

TIME and again I am told — by my own organization and by others — that I penalize myself by quality.

Friendly critics protest our putting into the Ford V-8 what they call "twenty-year steel." They say such quality is not necessary; the public does not expect it; and that the public does not know the difference anyway.

But I know the difference.

I know that the car a man sees is not the car he drives — he drives the car which the engineer sees. The car which is seen comprises beauty of design, colour and attractive accessories — all desirable, of course. The best evidence that we think so is that they are all found on the Ford V-8.

But these are not the car. The car proper, which is the basis of all the rest, is the type of engine and its reliability; the structure of chassis and body, ruggedly durable; the long thought and experiment given to safety factors; the steady development of comfort, convenience and economy. These make the car.

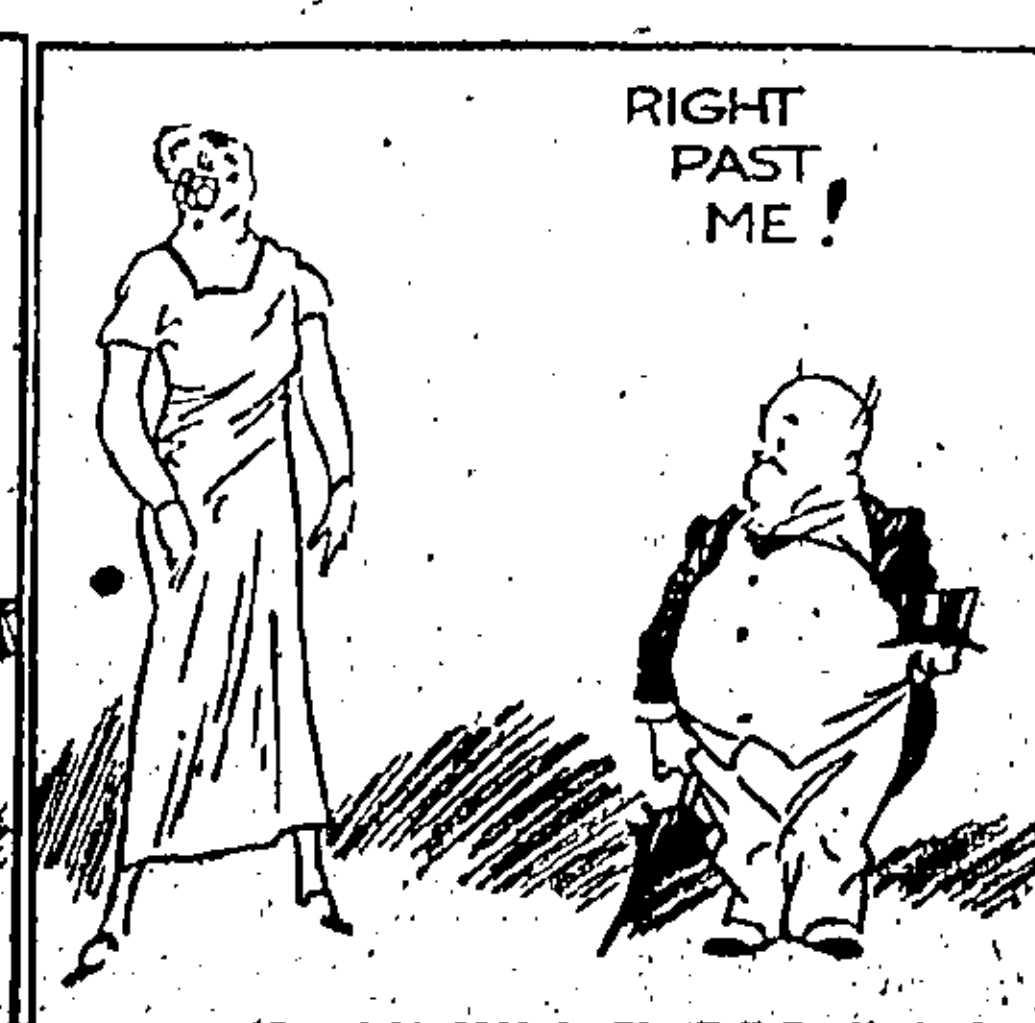

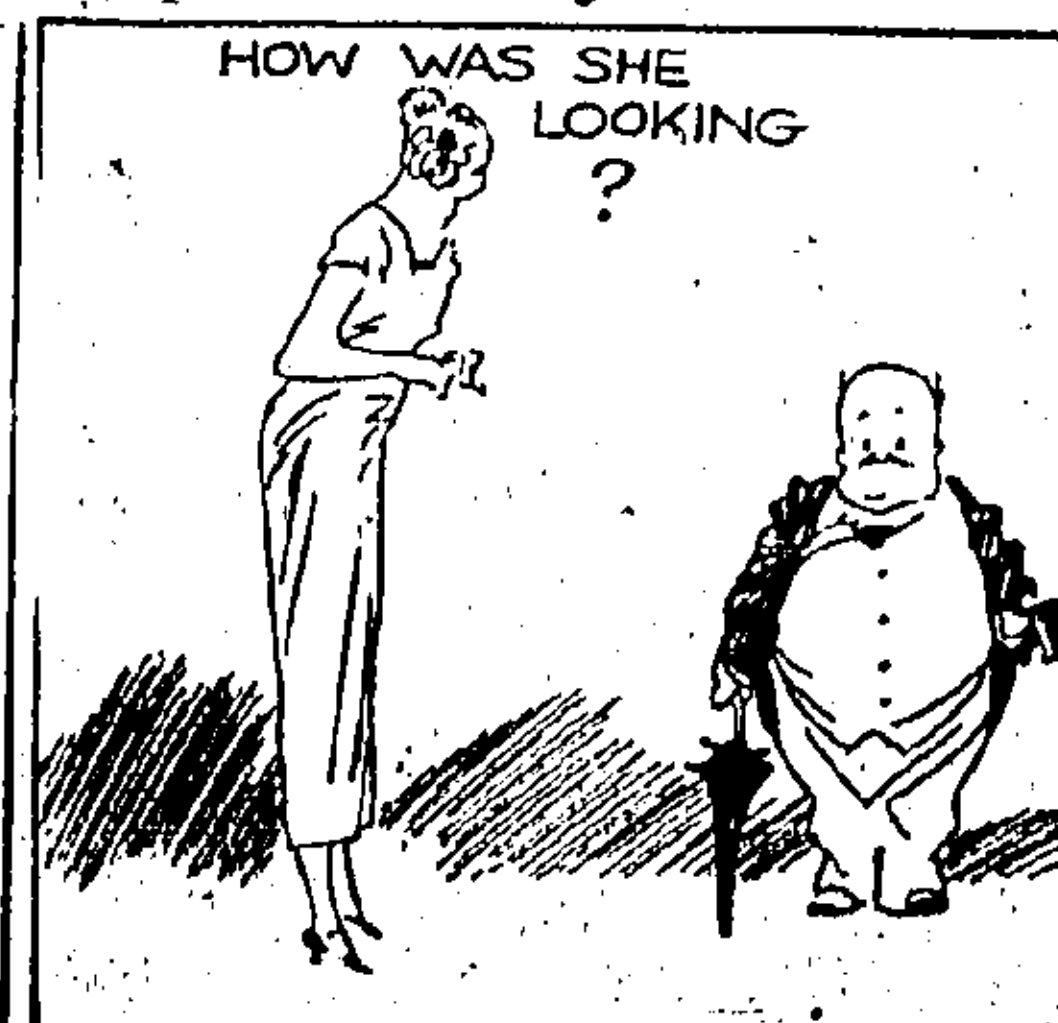

A car can be built that will last two or three years. But we have never built one. We want the basic material of our car to be as dependable the day it is discarded as the day it is bought. Ford cars built 15 years ago are still on the road. It costs more to build a durable car — but two items we do not skimp are cost and conscience. A great many things could "get by" — the public would never know the difference. But we would know.

The New Ford V-8 is a car that I endorse without any hesitancy. I know what is in it. I trust our whole thirty years' reputation with it. It is even better than our previous V-8. It is larger, more rugged and mechanically a better job all round.

I readily say this in an advertisement because I know the car will back it up.

GIGANTIC U.S. PUBLIC WORKS PROGRAMME

Community Drives For High Wages.

RAISING PURCHASING POWER OF WORKERS

Washington, Yesterday. It is understood that President Roosevelt does not contemplate any action in connection with the spectacular break on the Stock Exchange. He considers that undue attention has been paid to the fluctuation of stock prices.

With the object of raising the purchasing power of the workers, President Roosevelt is pressing forward the gigantic public works programme, while the Director of the National Industrial Recovery Administration, General Hugh S. Johnson has urged the Chambers of Commerce in all the larger towns to organise community drives to secure the adoption of a temporary voluntary code for hours and wages.—Reuter.

WALL ST. SLUMP CONTINUES

New Record Sales As Panic Rules.

INDUSTRIALS FALL POINTS

New York, Yesterday. The panic on Wall Street swept the markets anew yesterday, the deluge of selling reaching a new high record with 9,570,000 shares, being the total trading since Wednesday to over 25,000,000 shares.

Prices again plunged, and it is at present impossible to forecast the bottom of the slump. Industrial issues were again the worst affected, dropping an average of 7.55 points to 88.71, while rails were also very weak, declining 4.74 to 44.52. Utilities and bonds declined 2.52 and .80 to 30.30 and 87.87 respectively. There is no more news explaining the selling yesterday than there was on Thursday and it is utterly impossible to say whether selling has culminated or not. We think the afternoon market was the worst.

"Cotton: Prices established new lows on heavy long liquidation. The trade bought but this support was inadequate to stem the tide of offerings. Later a broadening demand set in, together with smaller offerings, causing a slight rally and some short covering, due to possibilities of new developments in Washington.

"Silver: Weak all through the session, influenced by the heavy wave of liquidation in other markets. Buyers are scarce and stop-loss orders were caught on the decline a moderate rally set in near the close.

Wheat: —Winnipeg advanced early in the day on a broad foreign demand and continued unfavourable crop reports but later close one-eighth to one and one-eighth cents net lower. Considering the weakness of the United States market, the resistance shown by wheat is remarkable."

GRAIN TRADING SUSPENDED

FURTHER SUSPENSIONS IN MID-WEST.

New York, Later. The Board of Trade at Duluth and Minneapolis have suspended trading in grain futures again to-day.—Reuter.

SPIRITED GERMAN DEMAND FOR RETURN OF COLONIES

Colonial Propaganda Exhibition Opened In Berlin

Berlin, Yesterday. The German Colonial Propaganda Exhibition to show what immense values lie in Germany's former Colonies, was opened by the Lord Mayor of Berlin, Herr Sahn, in the presence of Government and high Nazi officials, yesterday.

Herr Sahn declared, "We do not ask the right to the soil, but demand it on behalf of the German people. We are a people without room, which makes a nation without life."—Reuter.

OPERATION BY THE ROADSIDE.

Suffocating Woman Saved.

Vienna. A woman patient was being transferred by ambulance from Baden, near Vienna, to the city with an abscess in the trachea (windpipe), when she began to suffocate.

Dr. Kern of Baden had the ambulance drawn up by the roadside and operated at once.

As he could not make the necessary stitches on the spot, he held the wound closed with his hands for the rest of the trip to the hospital, where a tube was inserted.—Reuter.

MOLLISONS ON ATLANTIC HOP.

This is the second attempt by the Mollison's to commence their last big flight. While attempting to take-off from Croydon air port, London, on June 8, their plane taxied into a gully and toppled over, luckily without causing injury to either of the occupants. The under-carriage, however, collapsed, and both underwings were broken and the propeller bent. The engine was torn away.

This is to be the first and last time that the Mollison's seek new air honours together. They have announced that after this big flight, they will retire from the field of record-breaking achievements.

The new machine is a Dragon-Moth. It has been named the Sea-farer. At the wish of Mrs. Mollison it has been painted black.

Post Flying On Final Hop Of Record Flight

again in the air, bound for Novosibirsk. Bad weather forced him to land the same evening at Koenigsberg. He took off on Monday morning for Moscow, where he landed at 2.23 p.m. He left the Russian capital at 5.32 p.m. to same day, and was at Novosibirsk at 6.27 a.m. on Tuesday.

He made fast time until reaching Irkutsk, where bad weather again delayed him. On Wednesday night he was forced down at Rukhlovo while attempting to fly through a storm to Khabarovsk, but took off again almost immediately and landed safely at Khabarovsk at 3.55 a.m. on Thursday.

He passed over Nome, Alaska well ahead of time on Thursday afternoon, and at 4.30 p.m. was reported over Ruby, Alaska. It was shortly after this hour that he crashed at Flat, with 31 hours in hand.

The "Iron Mike"
The aeroplane is equipped with an automatic pilot device—"Iron Mike." Post calls it—which, as he put it, "will give me a chance to see some of the country this time."

This automatic pilot, or robot, built by the Sperry Co., is claimed to be almost human. At first it only succeeded in keeping the plane on a level keel, but now it also makes the turns for the pilot who, with the mere twist of a knob giving the number of degrees turn desired, makes the automatic pilot tilt the plane to the proper angle and put the rudder in the right place for a perfect turn.

Going as Passenger
Post was not worried about his ability to stand up under the strain of the flight. He carried little food, because "when you're hungry you're going to stay awake."

GERMANY WELCOMES MR. SOONG

Hopes For Profitable Orders.

"A DISTINGUISHED STATESMAN"

Berlin, Yesterday.

The Chinese Finance Minister, Mr. T. V. Soong, arrived here yesterday. He was welcomed by a representative of the Government and the staff of the Chinese Legation.

The object of his visit, it is stated, is to make contact with industrialists and economic experts in Berlin and Hamburg with a view to closer economic co-operation between Chinese and German industrialists, who are hoping for profitable orders as a result of Mr. Soong's visit.

The German newspaper, "Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung" welcomes Mr. Soong as "One of the most distinguished statesmen and far-seeing politicians of our time."

"In no country will he find a more complete understanding of the position of his people than in Germany which, like China, has to fight hard for national restoration," the paper adds.—Reuter.

MANCHUKUO TAX REDUCTIONS.

Goods allowed duty free include agricultural machinery, cotton seed, fodder, paraffin wax and wool. Duties reduced from 7.5 per cent. to five per cent. Include mining machinery, paints, varnishes, polishes and electrical materials and fixtures.

Duties on cotton, textiles and cotton manufactures have not been reduced because they constitute an important source of national revenue.

One notable increase is on leaf tobacco. The 15 per cent. ad valorem duties on motor vehicles and railway and tramway supplies remain unchanged.—Reuter's Pacific Service.

Blaze On Junk

400 Tons Of Oil Burn For Two Hours.

FIRE FLOATS SENT TO COMBAT FLAMES.

Fire broke out at noon yesterday on a cargo junk lying in Cheung Sa Wan Bay, Kowloon. A cargo of over 400 tons of oil and kerosene caught alight and despite the efforts of the Fire Brigade, burned furiously for two hours, finally dying of its own accord.

At 12.10 p.m. yesterday the Fire Brigade Station at Kowloon Ferry Point received a call from Cheung Sa Wan and two fire-appliances were sent. On arrival, however, it was found that the junk was anchored in the bay and out of reach of the fire-engines. The two Fire Floats, Nos. 1 and 2, were immediately sent for, and on arrival played their hoses on the burning wreck.

The flames had made a secure hold on the cargo of oil-products, which burned furiously despite all their attempts.

No casualties are reported, but the junk is stated to be water-logged and seriously damaged.

The junk was carrying 340 tons of fuel oil, the property of the Associated Petrol Company, National Savings and Commercial Bank Building, Des Vaux Road Central.

The damage to the junk and oil, caused by fire and water, was estimated at $400.

The owner of the junk, Tan Po Shan, has not yet been located, and at present it is not known whether the junk and cargo were insured.

WAR RELIEF IN NORTH CHINA

District Commission Inaugurated.

Peking, Yesterday.

The North China War District Relief Commission was inaugurated yesterday morning in the presence of seventeen members. General Huang Pu was in the Chair.

Although in a very weak condition General Ho Ying-ching managed to attend the meeting and administer the oath to members on behalf of the Central Government.

The meeting elected Mr. Yu Hsueh-ching, Z. S. Bien and Y. S. Djang as Directors of the three sections of Emergency Relief, Rural Rehabilitation and Finance, respectively.

The Commission has already received a million dollars from Nanking for relief work and it will float bonds to the value of $4,000,000 in North China.—Reuter.
